The figures in the 'The Kachin Hill Tracts figures ... the religion, &c. of the population concerned. figures are not given by town

The figures in the following tables are those of the Kachin Hill Tracts figures of the religion, &c. of the population concerned. The 1891 figures are not given by townships. The area was far less and non-synchronously enumerated at the 1891 census, was far smaller than that so dealt with at the 1901 enumeration and the area estimated was far larger, thus no comparison can be instituted between the two sets of figures.

Figures marked (*) are approximate.

No further details than those given, regarding the areas under cultivation, are available.

The Homalin population for 1901 includes the estimated figures (of certain Kachin villages), 94 males and 94 females living in 47 houses. There being no data regarding religion, &c., of these people they are not dealt with in any other table.

Singalin Hkampti and Hsawnghsup were excluded from the Census tracts in 1891.
